Mountain View M.D. Sets Mill Rate

A mill rate of $7\frac{1}{2}$ mills for the current year was set at the meeting of the municipal council of Mountain View held at Olds on Saturday. While this is an increase in mill rate the taxes will be slightly less than last year, as the assessment has been cut almost 20%. A discount of 10% will be allowed on current taxes paid before May 31 and September 1, and 5% between September 1 and December 15.

Estimates for the year were considered and $15,000.00 were appropriated for public works.

A by-law was passed to provide for the purchase of a Diesel caterpillar for the sum of $7,697.50, including cab, power take-off and lights. The old engine is being traded-in on the deal. It was considered good business to make the change, as considerable repairs were needed on the old engine, and it is estimated that by using fuel oil instead of gasoline a saving of $2,000.00 per year could be made on a basis of the work done in 1934.

The question of the supplying of seed-grain was discussed, but no action was taken.

Under the Destruction of Pests Act it was decided to pay a bounty of $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ each for crow and magpie eggs and 2¢ each for mature heads, up to June 1.

Several cases of relief were dealt with, and routine matters comprised the balance of the business.

Mr. Herman Hawkes took delivery of an Oldsmobile Sedan, from the Adshead Garage this week.

Council Endorsed at Ratepayers Meeting

The electors of the town expressed their confidence in the mayor and council in no uncertain manner on Friday at the meeting of ratepayers which had been called by a petition of electors.

Mayor Chambers occupied the chair and read the petition and the names of the signers.

Mr. W. A. Austin outlined the position of the mayor and council and scored the writer of the petition and others who had circulated the petition but had not signed the petition themselves.

The chairman of the committees presented reports of their department. No comments or criticisms, however, were made on the reports by the petitioners.

The question of publishing, in the Pioneer, a detailed statement of all accounts paid by the town, which the council deemed inadvisable, was discussed. Mr. Lynch-Staunton spoke in favor of publishing of the accounts and Mr. Austin explained the stand taken by the council.

A vote was taken on the matter and the action of the council was upheld by a vote of 78 to 1.

The matter of the salaries of the employees of the town also came in for some discussion.

A motion of confidence in the Mayor, each of the Councillors and the Secretary-Treasurer was passed without a dissenting vote.

C.G.I.T. Conference

On Saturday, April 6, seventy-nine leaders and girls from Innisfail, Bowden, Olds, Didsbury, Carstairs and Crossfield, gathered at Knox United Church for a One-Day Conference commencing at 9:30 a.m. After each one had registered games were enjoyed under the direction of Miss Connie Smith, Girls Work Secretary for Alberta. Rita Scrutton then welcomed the visitors, and Mary Hoffman of Bowden responded after which Miss Smith explained the theme of the Conference—"Dreaming True." Grace Loader was elected president of the Conference and Winnie Adshead, Secretary. Mrs. Boorman led the morning worship period. The girls then took part in discussion groups, the subjects being: What does it mean to be a Peacemaker? Friendship, and The Art of Being a Gentlewoman. Those leading these groups were: Mrs. Klein, Didsbury; Mrs. Church, Balzac; Miss Smith, Calgary; Mrs. Stainton, Innisfail; Miss Sharp, Olds and Miss Locke, Bowden. Miss Smith showed the girls a number of camp slides. An enjoyable dinner hour followed.

The afternoon programme began with a lively sing-song and talks on 'Camp' by Mary Hoffman, 'The Gleam,' (our C.G.I.T. paper) by Ruth Rostrop, Carstairs, and 'The W.M.S. and our Relationship to it,' by Mrs. Malyon, Olds. The Didsbury girls presented two short plays. Minutes of the Conference and findings of the session were read.

Miss Smith led the closing worship service, which was very impressive, after which the Didsbury girls served tea. The singing of 'Taps' brought to an end a very happy day and one which will be long remembered by all.

Fish & Game Asso. Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of Didsbury's branch of the Fish and Game Association was held Thursday evening last.

Mr. J. A. McGhee occupied the chair and gave a resume of the past season's work and also a report of the Fish and Game Association convention held at High River last fall, at which he was one of the delegates.

The financial report, showing a small balance in the bank, was read and adopted. The membership in 1934 numbered 72.

It was decided that Mr. S. Clark, the provincial game commissioner, and Mr. R. T. Rodd, supervisor of fisheries, be asked to give talks and show moving pictures on game and fish life, in Didsbury some time in June.

It was again decided to put the membership fee at 25¢, as it was more desirable to obtain a larger membership than funds at the present time.

The following officers were elected:

Hon. Presidents
Messrs. Stanley Clark and R. T. Rodd
President, Mr. J. A. McGhee.

Vice-President, Mr. C. H. Adshead.

Sec.-Treas., Mr. J. E. Gooder.

The following committees were appointed, with the first-named as chairman:

Membership: Messrs. Adshead, W. Gillrie and Julian.

Big Game: Messrs. Bert Fisher, J. Topley, Heselton, E. Ford and Adshead.

Pests: Messrs. C. R. Ford, E. Ford and Fleury.

Game Birds: Messrs. Julian, Fleury, N. S. Clark, J. Hosgood.

Fish: Messrs. C. E. Reiber, C. R. Ford, J. McCloy, W. Smith.

The chairman of each committee, together with the officers, will form the executive.

It was decided that the pest committee interview the municipal councils with regard to a scheme towards pest-control.

On Sunday the local C.G.I.T. took charge of the services at both Knox Church and Westcott. Miss Smith was guest speaker and gave an inspiring address on girls work and the aims of the C.G.I.T. Musical numbers were given by the girls' own orchestra of Winnie Adshead, Mary Boorman and Rita Scrutton, violins; Betty Boorman, 'cello, and Mrs. Boorman, piano. Lois Edwards sang a solo and the entire girls' group sang an anthem.

Winnie Adshead took charge of the service and was assisted by Betty Cummings, Rita Scrutton and Florence Chamberlin. Dorothy Sinclair and Elizabeth Austin acted as ushers while Betty Cummings and Lorraine Gage took the offering.

Will Celebrate Silver Jubilee

A number of citizens met on Monday evening at the call of the Mayor for the purpose of organizing to hold a celebration.

A committee representing all the organization in town was chosen and they will be asked to meet on Tuesday evening to make full arrangements for the celebration.

The following were chosen, Mrs. McGhee, Mrs. Lowrie, Mrs. Boorman, Rev. H. J. Wood, Rev. C. J. Hallman, Messrs. J. V. Berscht, W. G. Wallace, W. A. Austin, Pitt, McFarquhar, Boorman, Halton, Dewitt, T. Johnson, Morgan, Lunt, Buhr, E. Evans, C. R. Ford, Art Reiber, W. Smith, Adshead, W. Gillrie, McGhee, Brusso, H. C. Liesemer, Ranton, H. W. Chambers, C. E. Reiber, J. Fleury, Spence.

The question of the Jubilee Cancer fund was brought before the meeting and it was decided to hold a concert and dance in aid of the fund on the night of May 6th.

Mrs. Lowrie, Mr. Adshead and Mr. J. Robertson were appointed a committee to organize the concert and Messrs. J. Fleury and Gooder are a committee to organize the dance.

Saturday Shows Start Next Week

Mr. W. H. B. Sharp informs us that Saturday shows will again be given in Didsbury, commencing on the 20th with both afternoon and evening performances.

The first Saturday show will be "His Greatest Gamble," with Dorothy Wilson and Bruce Cabot.

Shows will now be held Wednesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday afternoons and evenings.

Celebrate Vimy Night

Members of the Canadian Legion and returned men were entertained by their ladies to a banquet Tuesday night in honor of the anniversary of the action at Vimy Ridge.

Mr. Jack Robertson, president of the Didsbury branch, acted as toastmaster.

After the toast to the King, Mrs. J. H. Lowrie proposed a toast to the Legion, to which Mr. C. H. Adshead replied.

Mrs. Adshead gave the toast "to the Heroes of Vimy," and in reply Mr. E. Craig, who took part in the attack on Vimy Ridge, gave a graphic description of the action.

Mr. W. A. Austin proposed a toast to the ladies and the reply was given by Mrs. Chas. Mortimer.

Mayor Chambers, who was one of the guests, gave a few words of greeting.

After the banquet dancing was enjoyed to music supplied by Halliday's Orchestra.

All leaders in their class

Man's Priceless Possessions

To keep one's head in times of emergency and crisis, remain cool, refrain from excess emotionalism, hysteria and panic, is a sign of strength, and men and women who display these characteristics prove to be the real leaders of their fellow citizens. That leadership may be demonstrated without uttering a word or doing anything spectacular, but merely by being unafraid, natural and unconcerned.

This truth was impressed upon us the other day by an incident reported in the daily press in connection with a fire which broke out on a railway car between Moose Jaw and Regina. There was a rush of frightened passengers to the rear door. One man urged calmness and an orderly exit, but little heed was paid to him. But another passenger remained quietly in his seat, looking with unconcern out of the car window. His attitude impressed others with the fact that there was little danger and no need for undue alarm. People quieted down and a near panic was averted.

The world is passing through the stress and emergency of an unprecedented economic depression. It is a time to try the calibre of men and nations. Under prevailing conditions the striking of a small spark might easily cause an explosion, and a small flame spread into a great conflagration. There are individuals in all countries striving to take advantage of the present situation to stir up trouble. They are playing on the emotions of their fellow citizens, emotions which have been stirred to the depths by the personal problems, difficulties, sufferings and loss with which they have been and still are confronted. Times are ripe for the demagogue and the stirrer up of strife to ply their trade, regardless of what the final outcome might be.

In some countries peoples have so lost confidence in themselves and so given way to panic and become the victims of emotionalism, that they have sacrificed personal rights and liberties almost over night which it had taken generations of struggle by their forefathers to achieve for them. Thoughtlessly, in a spirit of panic, they surrendered some of the great fundamentals of life and living because they allowed others to unduly sway their emotions and neglected to keep cool and think for themselves rather than allow others to think and act for them.

Because this is so, the hands of the clock of progress have been turned back in such countries, and their future is dark and discouraging compared with those other nations where the people, and their leaders, have kept their feet firmly planted on the ground and their heads cool and minds clear.

To-day in Canada and throughout the British Empire all people still enjoy that great safeguard of their liberties which is represented by a free and uncensored press and the utmost freedom in expression. Every man and woman, no matter what his or her station in life, is absolutely free to express opinions, publicly or privately, in relation to any and all matters of public policy. They are just as free to criticize and condemn as they are to applaud and praise. If they are dissatisfied and opposed to those presently in positions of authority, they are free to express their dissatisfaction and to organize to give force to their opposition.

No government agent sits in any newspaper office in Canada, no file of censorship orders lies on any editor's desk which must be obeyed. The radio, the pulpit, the public platform, is just as free to opponents of present governmental policies as they are to supporters of those policies. This is not so in many of the countries of the world. Hundreds of millions of people are now denied free expression of their views, opposition to the powers-that-be is prohibited, even the news of the day is censored, suppressed altogether, or colored to suit the views and policies of the prevailing dictator.

The essential fact for all Canadians to ever keep in mind is that, even if a so-called economic security could be obtained by them through these autocratic methods, the price to be paid is altogether too great. A slave may enjoy security provided by his master, but the fact remains he is a slave and nothing more, and what Canadian citizen desires to become a slave?

What the whole world is in danger of losing, unless the very people who have most to lose keep their heads, are the very fundamentals of civilization, namely, the liberties of the individual citizen. Once those personal liberties are lost, and might rather than right occupies the place of power and authority, it will be the great masses of the people, deprived of their democratic institutions and liberties, who will be the sufferers. Once lost, the struggle to regain these priceless liberties will have to be re-commenced, because man was born to be free. The battle to restore civilization, liberty and equality will again have to be waged.

Liberty, freedom, personal rights are priceless possessions. They should never be surrendered for anything else, no matter how attractively that something else may be dressed up and presented. Nothing else, nor everything else, can repay man for the loss of freedom of expression and liberty of action.

New War On Grasshoppers

Menace Serious As Last Year Alberta Farmers Told

Just as relentless a war against grasshoppers will have to be waged this summer and fall as last year by Alberta farmers or tremendous financial loss will result, Lieut.-Col. E. H. Strickland, professor of entomology at the University of Alberta, who was a visitor in Calgary, stated.

It is known that millions of grasshoppers will be massed ready for action as soon as their feeding season begins, but the counter offensive is more highly organized than ever before, due to sad experience in the past, resulting in a greater appreciation by farmers of the seriousness of the menace.

Col. Strickland stated that the present outlook in regard to the grasshopper menace was as serious as it was this time last year. In 1934, he said, very considerable damage was done by the insects, but the damage was inconsiderable when compared with the grasshopper plague between 1919 and 1922, when crops on farms everywhere in the province were wiped out.

Efforts are still being carried on to discover new methods to fight grasshoppers, according to Col. Strickland, but, so far, the most practical and efficient method has been the systematic scattering of poison bait.

A BARBER WHO HAD RHEUMATISM

Tells How He Carried On

A barber who had been "a martyr to rheumatism" writes:

"I have been a martyr to rheumatism for some ten years. For five years I was so affected that it was with the greatest difficulty I was able to carry on my business. I may say I am a barber by trade. After having tried numerous remedies, I was finally advised to try Kruschen. I am pleased to say that after having used Kruschen for some twelve months, I am now freer from aches and pains than I have been for some ten years. In fact, I consider I am rid of rheumatism, thanks to Kruschen Salts."—W. M.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effectual solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals, then convert them into a harmless solution. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys, and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acid through the natural channel.

Day Of Thanksgiving

Special Services Requested In All Canadian Churches

The Canada Gazette carried a proclamation requesting special thanksgiving services in all Canadian churches May 5 and setting aside May 6, the 25th anniversary of King George's accession, as a day of general thanksgiving and rejoicing on the occasion of our silver jubilee.

The thanksgiving services on the Sunday before jubilee day were described as giving an opportunity for "appropriate expression of gratitude to Almighty God for the manifold bounties and great mercies which our loving subjects, the people of Canada, have enjoyed during our reign."

Canadian cattle to the number of 13,592 head, in 27 shipments, were exported direct to Glasgow during the year 1934, as compared with 11,238 in 1933 and 4,016 in 1932. The quality was also greatly improved.

The more people become civilized, the more they increase their capacity for suffering.

Soldier Settlers' Union

Largely Attended Conference Recently Held In Edmonton

Col. W. Rodger, Gibbons, was elected president of the Soldier Settlers' Union of Alberta at a conference held in Edmonton recently. Delegates from various sections of the province attended.

Discussion of the request, passed unanimously by all locals for presentation of a private bill for relief of the soldier settlers, featured discussion at the meeting.

The meeting agreed cancellation of all interest charges on soldiers' settlement lands was needed.

Other officers elected were: Vice-president, J. E. Hammond, Westlock; secretary-treasurer, J. E. Orn, Millet.

William Barker, Lacombe; N. Jackson, Brightview, and E. T. Neff, Leduc, were elected to the executive which was formed to work with the central executive at Lloydminster. Major Packman, secretary and R. T. Stewart, vice-president, on the central executive, also attended.

Information about the Soldier Settlers' Union will be gladly furnished by any of the above executive.

Shut Off From World

Four Nuns Working Among Primitive Tribes Of Papua

The four loneliest women in the world have passed through Port Moresby, Papua, on their way to what many must regard as a living grave.

They are nuns of the Carmelite Order. They have gone to spend the rest of their lives in the silence and seclusion of a little convent built specially for them some 30 miles inland.

There these four white women, who have dedicated themselves to a life of prayer and work among the primitive tribes of Papua, will live shut off from the rest of the world. They will occupy separate cells, and meet each other only in their little chapel for liturgical services.

By the rules of their Order, they must eat no meat, wear no stockings and shoes, sleep on straw, not look into a mirror, and have no correspondence.

If the pot in which candy is boiled is buttered for an inch or two down the sides the liquid will not boil over.

Little Journeys In Science

PROTEINS

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Proteins are very complex substances which always contain the element nitrogen. Protoplasm cannot be formed without proteins, and thus we see that life itself is dependent upon them. The word protein comes from a Greek word meaning "to take the first place", because the importance of this group of substances was early recognized.

Proteins occur in all living matter and are present in all natural food stuffs. Due to the fact that they are the chief constituents of living animal tissue, they are most plentiful in animal foods, such as meat, eggs and fish.

Scientists have found proteins to be the most complicated substances ever studied. They have found that all proteins contain carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen, oxygen and sulphur, while some also contain phosphorus. Small quantities of other elements are found in certain proteins.

Proteins are used by the body for building tissue, and also for producing energy. For providing the material for growth in children, and for repairing waste tissue in adults, they cannot be replaced by any other foods. The proteins obtained from animal foods, such as meat, milk and eggs are more valuable for these purposes than the proteins in vegetables. Milk is a valuable source of protein and is especially good for children.

Science has shown that there are thousands of different kinds of proteins varying in structure and quality. During the process of digestion, the proteins are decomposed into simpler substances, known as amino acid. These are absorbed and recombined in new proportions, forming other proteins which have different properties than those which were taken into the stomach. Thus the proteins in food are different than those actually used by the body.

Increased Grants To Be Made To Fairs And Exhibitions By The Dominion Government

Increased grants to fairs and exhibitions from the Dominion government were announced by Minister of Agriculture Robert Weir. Class "A" summer and winter fairs may now earn as much as $5,000 from the government. Class "B" will be able to receive $2,500 in Quebec and $3,000 elsewhere.

A statement by the minister gives these reasons for higher grants:

1. Adequately to increase and extend prize lists necessarily limited during the past few years on account of reduced grants.

2. To allow better provision by fair boards to obtain necessary judges of required calibre.

3. To assist in developing what is considered one of the most important phases of exhibition work—boys' and girls' work and junior activities.

In Canada are 19 class "A" summer fairs, 12 winter fairs, and 26 class "B" fairs, the department of agriculture revealed.

Maximum grants to class "A" or summer fairs will be increased from $2,500, as applied during the past three years, to $4,000. To earn the maximum grant of $4,000 a minimum expenditure of $8,000 in prize money in agricultural classes will be required. In addition each fair will be eligible for a further grant up to $500 to be applied specifically to the support of boys' and girls' club work and junior activities generally. Basis of this support will be reached by each agricultural society or board in consultation with a representative of the Dominion department of agriculture and a representative of the provincial department of extension service responsible for the administration of club work in the province. A further grant of $500 will be made towards the cost of providing judges. Total grant which may be earned is $5,000.

Maximum grants to winter fairs will be increased from $3,000, as applied during the past three years, to $4,000, with a further sum available up to $500 for the development of junior activities, plus a grant of $500 to apply to the cost of providing judges. Total grant which may be earned is $5,000.

To earn the maximum grant of $4,000 a minimum expenditure of $5,000 in prize money on agricultural classes will be required. Total grant which may be earned is $5,000.

WHAT DOES YOUR HANDWRITING REVEAL?

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT
(Grapho-Analyst)

(All Rights Reserved)

(Editor's Note: Marked interest is being shown in these articles, and letters are coming in in increasing numbers. Have you had your handwriting analysed? Have you any problem in which this well-known writer could help you? See his invitation following this week's interesting article.)

A surprisingly large number of readers have written in, from time to time, asking for advice regarding friends with whom they have become acquainted through the medium of correspondence clubs. Sometimes the object is merely to have interesting correspondents, and there is really no particular harm in this.

The real danger arises when the object is more intimate; when, in fact, the aim is marriage. The case in the United States in which a man became acquainted with a number of ladies through a correspondence club, and murdered them for their money must be still fresh in the memory of many readers. However, it is not every case that reaches this terrible pitch, by any means.

Very frequently, however, women become embroiled with men and marry them, only to find that their impressions of the man were anything but correct, and they have lived to rue their decision.

This article is especially aroused by a letter I have just received. It is from a lady reader in the East. She asks me about a man, living in the West, and wishes to know what I think of him. She is a widow, 38 years of age, with two pretty children, and very comfortably off financially. The man, on the other hand, says he is 49, is still married but is separated from his wife, because, he says, she made his life miserable, and was interested in other men.

He is very anxious to marry the widow, and will, he says, obtain a divorce, if she decides to marry him.

Now I have seen letters that he has written. And they reveal not only that he is selfish and self-centred, but also has a violent temper. I cannot imagine anyone living with him having any happiness, because his temper is such that he will break out into a frequent fury. And there is very little that could be worse than this.

This man is avaricious. He knows that this widow has money, and he would like nothing better than to get possession of some of it. And there is still another angle. He is sensuous. Certainly, he is not the type of man for my correspondent.

They became acquainted through a correspondence club. And this shows up one of the very real dangers that lurk in these clubs. Here is a married man, who first posed as a single man, until he thought he could appeal for sympathy to this widow.

I am not going to lay it down as an axiom for my readers that they should have nothing to do with correspondence clubs. That would be injuring the innocent as well as the guilty. For there are many people, living in remote parts of the country, and in many cases too retiring to make friends in their own locality, who find some similarly lonely soul elsewhere in the country, and conduct a correspondence that brings some rainbows into both lives. At times, happy marriages result from these mail acquaintanceships. But grave care must be taken by would-be correspondents. The dangers should be borne in mind.

And it is especially to single girls that I address this word of warning. Women who have been married and become widows, are, very often, better versed in life's intricacies, and have at least that much advantage.

In the case I have mentioned above, my advice to the widow is to have nothing to do with her married correspondent. I do not trust him, and believe that he will bring nothing but unhappiness to my correspondent if any marriage is to occur.

One other word in regard to these correspondence acquaintanceships. Beware of any man who appeals for money. It may seem surprising that such a warning is necessary. And yet I have known of women who have sent money, following the interchange of letters through one of these clubs, and have lost it.

The author will analyse your handwriting for you, and he will tell you what your friends are really like, without any frills. Send specimens of the writing you wish to be analysed, stated birthdate in each case, and enclose 10¢ coin for each specimen. Send with a 3¢ stamped, addressed envelope, to Lawrence Hibbert, care of Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, Man. All letters are confidential. Replies will be forwarded as quickly as possible, but some delay is unavoidable, owing to the large number of letters that are coming in.

Punishment Not Adequate

Light Fines Are Not Deterrent To Reckless Drivers

So long as reckless drivers escape adequate punishment when they appear before the courts, so long will campaigns of education on careful driving and public safety crusades fail to have any effect. Infractions of traffic rules in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred are punished with light fines which seem to have no deterrent influences on bad driving. Loss of the right to drive for extended periods is the only effective cure for reckless driving, but it is not applied with necessary frequency and severity. The impounding of vehicles concerned in reckless driving cases for extended periods should also be included.—Calgary Herald.

Working On Airport

The defence department has spent $63,626 on the Hope airport in British Columbia. Defence Minister Grote Stirling told Hon. Ian MacKenzie (Lib., Vancouver Centre) in the House of Commons. The airport covers 70 acres of land, of which 26 have already been cleared. A total of 64 men are engaged on the work.

May Mean New Industry

Canada Greatly Interested In New Process For Flax

Ontario textile manufacturers are showing a keen interest in the Franklin E. Smith flax process which its promoters in Lancashire, England, claim will make linen cheaper than cotton. A. W. Hyndman, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada at Charlottetown, states.

He was in receipt of a letter from T. A. Gordon of the firm of Gordon and Son, Sarnia, Ont., who stated in Sarnia six flax mills were operated during the Great War and for some time afterwards but the business, owing to the Russian trade with Belfast, was "practically ruined."

"We would be pleased," Mr. Gordon wrote, "to grow flax and scotch it here for the Lancashire markets. It might be possible to have a permanent trade established."

Franklin Smith, the inventor of the new process, is a native of Charlottetown and is now a British government consultant.

The Prince Edward Island Department of Agriculture is watching the Lancashire experiments with interest, seeking in the perfection of the process the possibility of a new industry for the province—the growing of flax—which was a well established handicraft industry there at the time the Charlottetown inventor left his native province.

After "successful experiments" in the mixing of waste flax fibre and cotton for manufacture of special mechanical and chemical processes into a new type of fabric, investigations are being carried out with the co-operation of the Canadian government's experimental farm near Ottawa into the possibility of utilizing linseed straw, a waste product from farms, to supply the raw material for the new type of fabric.

France plans to take off the market its large surplus of wheat.

Imitative Suicide

Reducing This Fully Through Co-Operation Of The Press

Through co-operation of the press, says Lieut.-Col. Innes Ware, coroner of York, Eng., he has been able to reduce a certain type of suicide in one West Riding town by nearly 100 per cent. His suggestion that full details in these cases be not reported was adopted. He believes lack of publicity would virtually eliminate the "imitative suicide."

Lieut.-Col. Ware has made a careful study of religious beliefs held by those who take their lives. In a long experience he has had to hold a suicide inquest on only one Jew and only two Roman Catholics. In both these religions, he says, self-destruction is regarded as one of the most heinous sins.

He is unable to accept the common assertion that a person who commits suicide is insane. "In my experience at least 50 per cent. are perfectly sane when they do it, and they intend to do it for the purpose of avoiding their responsibilities in this life. I base that upon my own experience and on what I have read by reliable people who have studied the subject."

Thomas Wedders, an 18th century Englishman, had the longest nose of history. It measured 7½ inches, and Wedders made his living exhibiting it.

The first universities in the New World were founded simultaneously in Lima, Peru, and in Mexico City, 1551.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Pictures Should Tell Stories

It's the story-telling picture that creates real interest. Avoid stiff poses such as the picture to the right.

Is there any form of amusement older than story telling? From the cradle to the grave we hear stories—and like them. Before you were able to toddle, you were hearing about "This little pig went to market, etc." while mother gently pulled each toe as a matter of illustrating her story.

Hundreds of thousands of juvenile story books are sold every year and the ones we love most in our younger years were those translated into pictures, because they had a human appeal. All through our lives we retain our interest in picture stories. It is this appeal that takes us to the movies and causes us to look through the pages of daily newspapers and magazines for pictures that tell stories of human activities.

But when it comes to snapshots, so many seem to forget how much they enjoy looking at story-telling pictures. They pick up their cameras and just shoot, seemingly satisfied to get any picture at all, as it was in the old days of "You Press The Button And We Do The Rest." There is a better way to take pictures.

If you want some good laughs look over some of the pictures you have taken. Unless you are an exception, and let's hope you are, you will probably find a picture of Uncle Louie standing as straight as a plumb-bob line, back up against a tree or the garage door, and appearing to be facing the firing squad ready to be shot at sunrise. If Uncle Louie can't do anything else, the chances are he can read a newspaper, so why not have him do that. You will have a picture that tells some sort of a story at least, and is seasoned with that human interest touch that should be in every film you expose.

You go out on a picnic with your

Quite apart from the great work accomplished individually and cooperatively by entomologists of the governments of the United States and Canada, the recent meeting of the American Association of Economic Entomologists served as an important object lesson in international co-operation.

Leading scientists were there, representative of the North American continent—Canada, United States and Mexico. In his address to the meeting Mr. Arthur Gibson, Dominion Entomologist, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, dealt with the history of the admirable co-operation which exists between the United States and Canada.

For the past fifty years, he said, the entomological departments of the two governments had been drawn closer and closer and had developed a co-operation the equal of which does not exist between any two other nations. The entomologists of the two countries work out their problems together, as in the typical example of the organization known as the International Great Plains Crop Pest Committee.

Originally this committee was named the Northwest International Committee on Farm Pests and came into being in Winnipeg in 1920. Since that year workers from both sides of the International line have met in annual conferences, the meeting places rotating, one year in Canada and as a rule in the United States the next. A striking feature of these gatherings is the continuity of attendance of prairie entomologists from both countries. As a result of these meetings, the benefit to the United States and to Canada has been mutual. The work on the Canadian prairies has been advanced considerably, and from all reports the discussions and exchange of experiences have been of equal value to the United States officials.

Canadian Flying Club

Six Per Cent. Increase Shown In Flying Time Activities

A six per cent. increase in the flying time activities of the 22 clubs of the association was reported at Montreal to the opening session of the annual meeting of the Canadian Flying Clubs' Association by George M. Ross, Ottawa, executive secretary.

In his annual report, Mr. Ross stated in 1934 a total of 10,581 hours were reported against 9,971 in 1933.

The average flying cost in 1934 was $9.40 per hour, a reduction of 32 per cent. from 1933, he said.

Among those attending were: H. E. Richards, Fort William; N. H. Layton, Winnipeg; Dr. E. A. McFusker, Regina, and Maurice Burbridge, Edmonton.

A Strange Train

Locomotive Is Double And Runs On One Rail

The designer of a strange train seen in Ireland apparently set out to reverse the long accepted procedure. Instead of building a single engine to run on two rails, he made a two-in-one engine to run on a single rail. The locomotive is double in all respects, having two boilers, two smokestacks, and two fire-boxes, hitched together like Siamese twins. The cars as well are in two parts, and the whole train straddles the single rail. To further carry out the scheme of balance passengers travelling on the odd train are seated so that their weight is distributed equally on each side of the rail.

Island Is Horseless

The last horse has gone from Cape Sable Island, James E. Dexter of Clyde River, New Brunswick, recently purchased from Moses Smith of West Head the sole remaining steed, leaving not only West Head but the whole island "horseless."

Some of the big dogs, such as great danes, are old at nine years, whereas some small breeds live 18 to 23 years.

Westcott Notes.

Westcott Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Jack Robertson on March 28. The meeting opened with O Canada, and roll-call was answered by naming the "Disease you dread most, and why?"

Mrs. James Hughes gave a very interesting paper on Child Welfare and Public Health. She took as her subject, "Tuberculosis," after which an open discussion was held on the disease, and much was learned by those present.

It was decided to send Mrs. Roland Webster as delegate to the provincial convention at Edmonton in May.

The quilt blocks which were made by the members were turned over to Mrs. D. Klinek, who volunteered to arrange them and purchase the lining for the comforter. Many thanks are due to Mr. Norman Weber, who donated the wool for this comforter, and to Mrs. Roland Webster, who washed the wool.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, and the hostess served lunch. Mrs. C. Ray will have the next meeting on April 25 when the wool for the comforter will be carded.

RUGBY NOTES

Rugby W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Parker for this month's meeting with an attendance of thirty-one. Some of the earliest members were welcomed back into the circle. Mrs. George Youngs was appointed to attend the Provincial Convention next month as the Rugby delegate.

Mrs. Parker gave a short talk on the League of Nations' work. Mrs. August Krebs then took up the topic for the day and in a splendid talk told of the many ways in which the ever-needful Home Economics could be practiced in the home, and a lively discussion followed. Miss Lilian Kyncl favored the gathering with a violin selection, after which the prizes for the quilt blocks were awarded to Mrs. Otto Krebs, Miss H. Wahl and Mrs. Farrant.

The meeting closed with "God Save the King," and lunch was served. The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Farrant, with Child Welfare and Public Health for the day's topic.

Westerdale Notes

Mr. John Babki's sale was well attended despite the snow falling most of the day.

A birthday party was given Darrel Herbert at his home on March 29 on the occasion of his 18th birthday.

Mr. Clyde Ruby, from east of Three Hills, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lou Boles.

Westerdale Young People's Bridge Club closed for the season on March 26, when the last meeting was held at the home of Mr. Jones.

Westerdale schoolchildren held a Red Cross drive, concert and sale of work in the school March 26, and as a result netted $9.00 from the concert and sale.

Lou Boles and Ronald Gordon have been affected with the "flu" and Lou was confined to the house for a couple of days. Both are recovering slowly.

Westerdale Young People's Bridge Club closed for the season March 26 when the last meeting was held at the home of Mr. Jones. An enjoyable time was had by all, with Eric Anderson winning 1st prize.

The Social Credit Group met on March 30 in the Hall with a very good attendance considering a cold and windy night. Mr. C. Maloney of Bowden and Mr. Pool held the people interested with their splendid lectures, explaining the principles of Social Credit in detail, and how Social Credit could be put into operation in our province. The meeting ended in the small hours of the morning after which lunch and hot coffee were served.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Klaholt and Family wish to sincerely thank their many friends for their kindness, floral tributes and sympathy shown them during their recent bereavement.

Third Record.

The Jersey Cow, "Waikiki Geneva's Dewbell," owned by Norman Clarke, has completed a record of 10,902 lbs of milk and 700 lbs of fat, with an average test of 6.42 per cent in 365 days, at 4 years and 230 days of age. This is Dewbell's third record, as she has already won a silver medal certificate. If she freshens in time she will qualify for both gold and silver medal certificates, announces the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club.

The Jersey cow Didsbury Sultan's Amelia bred by Norman S. Clarke, Didsbury, Alberta, and owned by the University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, has been awarded a silver medal certificate by the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club for her production of 8,004 lbs of milk, 502 lbs of fat, with an average test of 6.27% in 365 days at two years and 78 days of age. Amelia is sired by Sultan's Oxford and from the cow Waikiki Cid's Omelo.

ly kind of bait. Putting bait on the lake gives the trapper the great advantage of finding the fox, wolf, fisher, lynx, or whatever animal takes the least bite of it. You might say with so much poison in the woods why don't this reduce the number of wolves? The fact is that the wolves are very shy, and it is only the few experienced trappers that are able to get wolves to take poisoned bait.

In January, 1905, I was with a professional trapper. On going to his bait on a lake we saw that a raven had taken few pecks of the bait, had flown about 50 yards and died. A fox had eaten part of the raven and lay stretched out within 20 feet of it. There was a fresh fall of snow and as the fox came from the direction we were going, tracked him back for fully one-half mile, and I am absolutely certain he did not get any other bait in that distance.

Hence it is plain to see how the high price of furs has all but exterminated the raven. In fact, the crow's only enemy, now, are the fox, the great horned owl and red-tailed hawk, but these three combined aren't one, two, three, with the raven. I have been asked by a great many people "why didn't this poison kill all the wolves?" In reply to this, let me say, the wolf is the shrewdest animal to poison or trap on earth. So many inexperienced people, carelessly putting out this poison, caused the wolves to be shy of any cold bait they saw. In fact, it is only experienced trappers that knew what that means. The most experienced trapper gets them taking bait weeks before they put any poison in it.

Before I go further, I want it distinctly understood that apparently all left me. But how can I call myself humane and stand and see these black highway murderers of the air continually robbing the more desirable birds of their eggs and young, and hear the mother screaming and crying, "Help, Help, Help!" How can I be humane and hold myself when I know he is coming back to repeat this cold-blooded, murderous deed. Moreover, I know that if one of these insectivorous or song birds were left to mature, it would do more good in ten minutes than a dirty, old crow would do in a day. Think of all the good descendants of this one insectivorous bird would do had it been allowed to mature and raise young. Oh, but you sigh and say,

SCIENTISTS FIND FASTER WAY TO RELIEVE COLDS

Ache and Discomfort Eased Almost Instantly Now

1. Take 2 Aspirin Tablets.

2. Drink full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

3. If throat is sore, crush and stir 3 Aspirin Tablets in a third of a glass of water and gargle. This eases the soreness in your throat almost instantly.

When you have a cold, remember the simple treatment pictured here . . . prescribed by doctors everywhere to-day as the quick, safe way.

Because of Aspirin's quick-disintegrating property, Aspirin "takes hold"—almost instantly.

Just take Aspirin and drink plenty of water . . . every 2 to 4 hours the first day—less often afterward . . . If throat is sore, use the Aspirin gargle.

But be sure you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin Tablet. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Company, Limited.

DOES NOT HARM THE HEART

"Jack Miner, are you sure that you know what you are writing about?" Yes, I am. I have tested it out. In 1910, I started reforesting near my home, in fact nearly all around my home. I secured the majority of the trees from the Ontario Forestry Department. The fifth year I had one nesting pair of mourning doves and now the doves nest and roost among these trees so thickly that they are actually breaking the limbs down. During May, June and July, I can take you to at least three hundred occupied doves' nests in that many minutes and, to-day, I would far sooner loan you my gun and permit you to go in there and shoot 100 pairs of doves than to allow one pair of crows to nest there and murder and terrorize this whole bird haven. Remember, here in southern Ontario doves nest from four to five times a year. My intimate friend, Mr. W. E. Saunders, of London, Ontario, located a dove's nest here with young doves as large as sparrows on April 15th. Fully 90 per cent. of them cease nesting by September 1st. Why, bless your life, these doves have got so bold that last summer there were three pairs nesting at one time on the piles of drain tile at our drain tile factory adjoining this little sanctuary. And remember, there were from five to eight men working there all summer, piling out and shipping away tile. But one-half mile north of here is a ten-acre wood, equally as inviting for any desirable bird to nest in, but there are no doves there, for the simple reason that there is usually a crow's nest in that vicinity. Remember, these doves are only one variety of desir-

INFANTS' COLDS Relieved!

Young children easily catch cold. So Mrs. Russel Ward, of Hilton Beach, Ont., wisely says: "If I notice that there is any sign of a cold I give Baby's Own Tablets and find they are a great help." Thousands of mothers do the same not only for colds but for fretfulness, indigestion, constipation, teething troubles, colic, upset stomach and so on. Baby's Own Tablets are safe and sure in relieving childhood's common ailments. Price 25c.

Dr. Williams' BABY'S OWN TABLETS

The fire prevention expert for the United States Department of Agriculture in a recent address stated that fire loss on farms would be substantially reduced if a ladder were part of the equipment of every farm. A ladder kept in a convenient place makes any roof fire quickly accessible and provides the means for occasional inspection of chimneys and flues. 2089.

When does this here man Kane git here?" asked Peyot.

"To-morrow night; on the night train from the East. Why?"

"Huh"—Peyot was trying to think—"just for a question, Mist' Sam. . . . Suppose that 'ere man doesn't turn up at all . . . What then?"

Dustin eyed him covertly but sharply. The bait was squarely before him and he was nibbling at it. He sat back in his chair and opened a drawer of his desk.

"See there, Peyot. . . ." He pointed to an open pasteboard box in the desk drawer. In that box lay an old-fashioned wooden-handled Derringer pistol, double barreled, freshly oiled with no marks of use on it. Beside it lay a green box full of calibre forty-one cartridges; those old-fashioned copper cases green with verdigris such as even the Frontier has only occasionally seen in forty years.

"I can't imagine myself in your place, Peyot," said Dustin. "But I know this: If I knew a man was comin' down here to find a man that I had killed . . . if I knew that a man was comin' down here to hang me . . . well . . . it'd be his life or mine. That's all. The law justifies a killing in self-defense. If it isn't self-defense to kill a man who's out to kill you, I'll be damned if I know what self-defense is."

It was just such a specious argument as would best appeal to a drug-sodden brain. Dustin stared at Peyot till he was sure that he had read aright the murderous gleam in the sunken eyes. Then the big ranchman heaved himself up and moved toward the door.

"Of course, I'm not advisin' you to do anything, Peyot. I can't. I can only tell you what I'd feel like doin'. I'd sure hate to see a stranger come into this country to hang me without my havin' a word to say about it. You stay here and pull yourself together. I'll be back in ten minutes."

"One minute, Mist' Sam. . . ." Peyot clawed at his coat-sleeve. "When's this here man Kane or Keene due to git here?"

"On the night train at Seco tomorrow night. Wait here. I'll be back in a little bit."

Dustin was absent considerably more than ten minutes. The night air drew cold in his nostrils as he stood facing the desert stars. Like a specter of the night a vision of old Dad Kane faced him accusingly. He shivered a little and dully noted that his hands were wet, yet the night was cool. Little pulses beat in unsuspected places in his mouth that was hot and dry, and from time to time a dull roaring in his ears sounded like thunder. When he finally went back to the office he glanced at the desk. The drawer was open. The Derringer pistol and two cartridges were missing.

Spike Goddard found him huddled in his chair with his shaking head buried in his hands. He was shivering and his face was white and drawn . . . like the face of a very old man . . . and not a good man either.

"What the hell ails you?" demanded Spike. "Seen a ghost?"

"Two," said Dustin with a crackling oath. "One a week old and one that ain't dead yet . . . I think Peyot will attend to it, Spike . . ." A long silence fell. . . . "Look here, Spike," he said suddenly. "Let's quit. Let's sell off the Broken Spur and get out of here. We can clean up. . . ."

"Sure thing," said Spike. "That red-heifer of Carr's be damned glad to see you go."

For just a second red murder gleamed in Dustin's eyes. Then he laughed.

"Just for that," he said, "six months from now you'll be sleepin' in the bunk-house. My wife and I will need this house."

"Yeah? Well, she won't be no red-headed girl named Edith Carr."

Dustin went on:

"When old Joe Carr learns that the Hour-glass has passed out of his hands he'll be worth listenin' to," he said. "Peyot'll fix everything for us all right."

"I'm sorry you've got that half-wit in on any scheme," said Spike soberly. "If he ain't got sense enough to git himself out of any murder plan, how can you count on him? If you've sent him to work on that scheme . . ."

"I haven't," said Dustin eagerly. "I didn't outline any plan. I just suggested a line of thought to him and he jumped at it."

"Yeah! An' him a qualified sort o' fool at that," said Spike. "Well, we'll see what we'll see."

He stamped out into the night and Dustin turned to his decanter.

CHAPTER XIV.

When Stone drove up to the Hour-glass, Crewe was waiting for him and eyed him shrewdly in the dusk.

"Come down by the corrals," he said. "What did you discover?"

"Very little. It may help some, though. You talk first. Tell me what took place when Dustin came to see Carr to-day."

Crewe laughed grimly.

"It was worth hearin'," he said. "Dustin rode in here about two o'clock and said he wanted to talk with Joe. I told him to go in. You see, I don't like Dustin anyhow and I knew Joe don't like him either. Of course, it bein' a private call, I stayed outside, but I heard Dustin tell him that he aimed to marry Edith. He told Carr that he'd always wanted to be friends with him and that if Joe was willin' for him to marry Edith, he'd call off the suit over Soda Springs and tie up the herds of the two ranches. . . ."

Crewe laughed grimly.

"It was worth hearin'," he said.

"Yeah. Go on. . . ."

"Well . . . old Joe sat there quite a spell sayin' nothin'. Then he says: 'Well, Mr. Dustin, then it narrows itself down to the fact that you want me for your father-in-law. Is that it?' That made Dustin mad.

"'You damned old fool,' he says, 'I don't want you for anything. If I take Edith, I got to take you just like a man gets the tail with the hide . . .' He got just that far. . . . You know what old Joe thinks of Edith . . . what we all think of her. . . . Old Joe lifted himself up to spare his game leg and I could hear every word:

"'All right, Mr. Dustin,' he said.

"'You've made yourself pretty clear. So will I. As I get it, you want to marry my daughter and tie up the herds of the Hour-glass and the Broken Spur in one. Is that it?' "That's right', said Dustin. 'The two ranches workin' together can make money. Workin' singly they can't. You're losin' money and catchin' on the Hour-glass. Ain't that right?'

"'I been losin' cattle ever since you and that man Goddard came to the Broken Spur,' said Joe. 'You'll have a clear sweep, Dustin. But my leg's gettin' a whole lot better lately. I'll all come out in the wash. You see, Mr. Dustin, a man named Colt invented a lil' tool that makes even a crippled cattle man the equal of a rustler. Don't you worry about the Springs,' he says. 'I'll tend to that in time. And when it comes to marryin' my daughter . . . well . . . I got a pretty good cook right now in the kitchen. . . .'

"Dustin kept his temper pretty damned good. I'll say that for him.

"I don't want a cook,' he says. 'I want a wife.'

"'Yeah?' says Joe. 'Then why not stick to your own kind? Why don't you go down to the place where you keep your other women? My cook tells me there's been an'old he-skunk under the barn for five years now. Come to think of it, that's just the same length of time you all've been at the Broken Spur stealin' Hour-glass cattle. I'm pretty sure that some day when that old skunk works his way into the kitchen, that cook's goin' to shoot him. Now, of course, Dustin, I can't say what Edith will say to you. I got my own ideas about it, though. I'm damned sure of one thing. When that old skunk gets into my kitchen the cook'll shoot him. If any other skunk, four- or two-legged, gets to hangin' his hat on my rack, sure as hell I'll shoot him. I'm sure you get me right, Dustin. . . . That's what he said. . . . Old Frank Crewe fairly crowded in his delight. . . . "Old Joe's in one hell of a mess but he'll charge hell with a dipper o' water if he gets hot and he's right mad at Dustin now. What ails you now?" he asked. For Stone's face was a study.

"Well . . . now you listen to me, Crewe. I've got something to tell you that you never guessed. . . ."

Crewe stared as the newest employee of the Hour-glass called the foreman by his last name. Then, without haste, Stone told him all that had taken place that day and Crewe, hoisting himself to the corral-bars, gave himself up to thought.

"You mean to tell me," he demanded, "that you an' Edith actually found the place that ore came from?"

Attempt Met With Failure

German Inventor's Rocket For Mail Delivery Did Not Work

The rocket mail delivery sponsored by Herr Zucker, the young German inventor, was recently attempted and failed. It was his intention to send a parcel of mails by rocket from the island of Scarpa to the mainland of Harris, half a mile distant. The first experiment failed. The firing apparatus, consisting of a slight wooden runway, with metal points to direct the rocket, was set up on the shore at Scarpa, and the rocket, which with its contents weighed 30 pounds, was placed upon it. Herr Zucker connected up the electric fuse, and pressed the button. Instead of the rocket shooting over the Sound of Scarpa, there was a dull explosion, and when the smoke cleared the wreckage of the runway and the rocket was seen on the shore, with the letters strewn about. Another attempt was made, but again there was an explosion, and the letters which have survived were handed to the Post Office for delivery in the ordinary way.

Trusts To Intuition

Women have a more efficient system of thinking than men, O. J. McClure, merchandising counsel, told delegates to the Retail Merchants Association of Canada convention in Toronto. "Woman thinks by intuition," he said. "She feels sure she is right, but can't tell why. Man reasons but often finds that woman by her simple system is more often right in her conclusions."

Gaitas, Spanish bagpipes, dating back to the ninth century, and other historic musical instruments from Spain are soon to be heard in broadcast.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people 'round 40 think they're "growing old." They feel tired a lot . . . "weak." Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all.

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person. Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS'" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Made in Canada.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM:
Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Bride-Elect Honored

Honoring Miss Ruth Frasch, whose marriage to Mr. A. Russell is announced for April 20th, a number of the younger set met at the home of Mrs. A. C. Fisher last Wednesday night when Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. George Julien entertained at a miscellaneous shower.

The living room was tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers centred with a large white wedding bell. The evening was spent with games and contests, followed by a piano duet by Mrs. Boorman and Miss Evelyn Liesemer, a 'cello solo by Miss Evelyn Liesemer and a reading by Mrs. D. A. Edwards.

Miss Frasch was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts presented to her in a large basket trimmed in pink and white.

A tasty lunch served by the hostesses brought to a close a very delightful evening.

WEDDINGS

SNYDER—HEYER.

The South Saanich (B.C.) United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday, March 29th when Alma Laura, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Heyer, of Brentwood, and Lloyd B. Snyder, second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Snyder, of Didsbury, were united in marriage.

The church was artistically decorated by girl friends of the bride with daffodils, plum-blossom and greenery.

The bride was given away by her father and attended by her sister. The groom was attended by Mr. Robert Smythe, of James Island.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Snyder left for their future home at Carstairs.

Things To Remember

Mr. Jack Pearson returned on Friday from the east. He drove back with a new Chevy car which he picked up at the factory at Oshawa. He left on Sunday and arrived here on Friday. Pretty good driving.

An entertainment will be given in the Community Hall on Thursday, April 18th at 8 p.m. in aid of the School Fair. The children of Mona, Neapolis, Jutland and Rosebud will take part in the entertainment. Come out and support the kiddies and their school fair. Following the entertainment a dance will be enjoyed until midnight.

Messrs. F. Moyle and L. Hahn as delegates and Messrs. H. Erb, A. Schwesinger, Ed Liesemer, H. Roberts and Mrs. L. Hahn all of the Didsbury district, as visitors, attended the Southern Central Convention of the Alberta Social Credit League, in Calgary, on April 4 and 5.

A Social Credit Meeting was held on Friday, March 29th, at the Burns Ranch in the home of Mr. H. Rempel. Mr. A. Schwesinger explained the Social Credit principles in the German language. The Burns Ranchers are greatly interested in Social Credit and demand another meeting in the near future.

A very successful pie social and concert was given by the Rosebud Social Credit Group at the Community Hall on Tuesday evening. Mr. F. Moyle gave a report on the convention held at Calgary last week. The quilt made by the ladies of the group was raffled and the winning number 124 was held by Mrs. P. W. Weigand.
